ADI SUNDORO

Born in Jakarta in 1992, Adi Sundoro (Asun) completed his fine arts education at Jakarta State University (UNJ) and earned his master's degree from the Bandung Institute of Technology (ITB).

His strong passion for printmaking has led him to explore and combine various printing techniques, often presented in unconventional, expanded, or experimental formats. In his practice, Asun employs the principles of printmaking as a lens to observe and respond to everyday phenomena, ranging from trivial daily experiences to broader social and political issues.

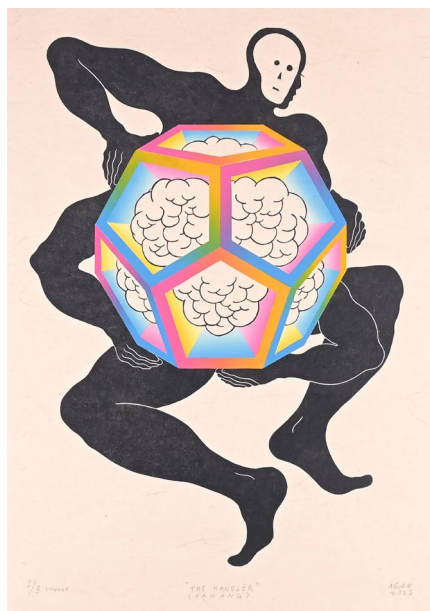

His works reflect a continuous exploration of process, material, and context, positioning printmaking not only as a technique but also as a conceptual approach.

ALEXANDER SEBASTIANUS

Alexander Sebastianus H (b. 1995, Java, Indonesia) works at the intersection of experiential ethnography, material studies, and speculative ritual. Trained as an apprentice to a Javanese master weaver in East Java, he brings a lineage of craft into dialogue with contemporary theory and anthropology.

During the Hypertextile Artist Residency in Mértola, Portugal (2025), Sebastianus developed Particles of Forms, shaped by the region's archaeological landscape. He studies geological matter as a living archive that carries both human histories and deep time. Guided by Bruno Latour's insight that "objects too have their trajectories, their histories, their capacities to act and to be acted upon," he approaches geological material as an active participant in the world's human construct.

ESTHER SUTANTO

Esther Sutanto's photographic practice investigates the human body as a site where material, movement, time, and consciousness converge. Drawing from the logic of lucid dreams—where awareness and surrender exist simultaneously—her work operates within a liminal space between reality and imagination, control and instinct. Through layered constructions and close collaborations with dancers, she captures gestures in motion, emphasizing impermanence, repetition, and subtle variation.

Alongside her photographic process, Esther works with artificial intelligence to generate dreamlike imagery that extends these explorations beyond physical space, creating visual states that resemble lucid dreaming. These hybrid practices slow perception and unsettle linear time, inviting viewers into an altered, embodied experience of seeing. Grounded in photography yet extending beyond its conventional limits, her work remains poetic, restrained, and quietly enigmatic.

GULA

I'm Gula, also known as Teguh Septian Arifianto, a Visual Artist based in Jakarta. My nickname, Gula (Eng: Sugar), isn't inspired by the sweet carbohydrate but stands for Gusto Laboratory, meaning the Passion Lab.

I infuse the happiness from this lab into my work, offering a momentary escape for people when they experience my creations. Specializing in illustrations, murals, designs, and crafts across various mediums, I cater to diverse clients.

Gula features an illustrated character that represents me physically. My vivid and illustrative style portrays a slightly eerie, utopian world, hinting at something darker behind the character's cheerful vibe. I created this alter ego to find harmony amid life's challenges. Expressing warmth and positive vibes in my art, even with a touch of sadness, is something I deeply value.

RUDY MURDOCK

Rudy Murdock lahir dalam keluarga militer yang keras, proses kreatifnya dimulai dengan musik sejak remaja dengan melakukan protes terhadap hal-hal menyimpang.

Pada fase berikutnya proses itu mengembara pada visual candu, operasi, pathologi sosial dalam sliding gambar yang tampil tidak mengangkat issue populer dan apalagi diharapkan oleh khalayak umum.

YOHAN LILIYANI

Yohan Liliyani (b. 1992) is a practicing female Indonesian artist, sculptor and photographer imbued with the fascination of the ordinary stills.

Liliyani challenges our gaze to reconfigure on how we paint portraiture, by using objects instead of subjects.

Her first series documents "artifacts" as not stills, yet as portraiture of the living. Liliyani's background as fashion photographer allows her to play the duality of both objects versus subjects within the lens of the composer.
